I. O. F. AT HOME

A Grand Success. Splendid Programme. A Delighted People. Delightful Dance.

On Tuesday evening last the members of Coleman Lodge No. 36, I.O.F., held an "At Home" in their hall, and a grand success it proved in every sense of the word.

Upwards of one hundred and fifty Odd Fellows were present accompanied by their wives, and those who were not fortunate enough to have a wife took lady friends.

It was strictly an "Odd Fellows" at home, and they showed themselves in charge of the function was Messrs. D. G. Stafford, J. O. C. McDonald and Alex. Morrison, and they provided themselves an entertainment committee of no mean order.

They, with their assistants, decorated the hall with red, white and blue bunting, and other pretty effects. Potted flowers took a prominent part in the decorations and were kindly lent by Mrs. E. Racot and Mrs. J. Hatfield.

Card playing was the order of the evening until the programme began. Prof. F. White presided at the piano in his usual pleasing manner. Mr. J. McMillan accompanied him with the violin, and also rendered several pleasing selections. Mr. McMillan is an excellent violinist and will prove an acceptable acquisition to the musical circle of Coleman.

The programme was a lengthy one and each number was well rendered. It is given below: Opening address, P. Porter; instrumental, Mr. Richardson; violin solo, J. McMillan; song, Blanche and Gladys Hilling and Charlotte Keane; song, Mrs. W. Watson; song, W. Chalmers; recitation, Thos. Haynes; song, H. S. French; song, W. H. Haywood; song and encore, A. Davis; song, T. Leyshon; recitation, A. Morrison; recitation, F. Smith; song, Mrs. H. Smith; Messrs. D. G. Stafford, E. Blaney, D. J. McIntyre, and M. Morrison gave short addresses.

After the programme a very interesting part was the refreshments. This being "leap year" the ladies were requested to ask the gentlemen to partake of the refreshments with them. It was rather embarrassing at first, but the ladies soon mastered courage and the "invitations" came thick and fast. The refreshments consisted of all the good things in delicious cakes, sandwiches, tea, coffee, ice cream and fruit, that the ladies of Coleman are noted for supplying on such occasions. The tables fairly groaned under the load of good things provided, and the ladies are to be congratulated upon the grand success of their efforts in planning so large a crowd, particularly as it replenished the assemblage for what was to come after the dance.

The dance, as well as the rest of the evening's enjoyment, was a success. Prof. White and J. McMillan gave the music and it just suited the dancers to perfection, and almost everyone in the hall enjoyed the light fantastic till 2:30 o'clock, when all dispersed to their homes having thoroughly enjoyed the most successful affair of the kind ever held in Coleman. Too much praise cannot be given the ladies for their kindly efforts and hard work in making such a pleasant "At Home" for the Odd Fellows.

The ladies present were: Mesdames Gengembre, P. Chardine, Bonanza, A. Beck, Taber, G. Dunlop, R. E. Boak, R. Dunlop, D. G. Stafford, R. Easton, M. Morrison, Evans, E. Roan, J. Langston, D. Davis, J. EAGLES CELEBRATE

Victoria Day Celebrated in Royal Style by Coleman Aerle. A Big Crowd and a Grand Dance

The members of Coleman Aerle No. 1140, Fraternal Order of Eagles, royally celebrated Empire Day, May 25th, by holding a picnic at Crow's Nest Lake. Unfortunately the day was wet, and although Mr. Foster was called to see if he could give the birds a little sunshine, these gentlemen regretted his inability to comply with the request, giving as his reason that it was the day of the Cowley races, which day, from time memorial was ordained to be a wet day. However, as the saying goes, "You can't keep a good idea down," the same rule applies to a good order. After a short consultation the Eagles came to the conclusion that a little pure water wouldn't hurt their wings very much. A procession was formed at the Coleman hotel headed by the Coleman citizens' band, and marched down to the dock, where special coaches were provided by the C.P.R. to carry the pleasure seekers to that most ideal spot selected for the picnic—Summit, B.C. About one hundred and fifty, comprising the members of Coleman Aerle and their wives, sisters and sweet hearts and young Eagles to be assembled on the C.P.R. platform at Coleman, and entrained for Crow's Nest. At Crow's Nest station they were received by nine host of Summit hotel, Andy Goode, whose genial countenance and cordial welcome to his domains made everyone present feel at home. That most accommodating of hotel proprietors then put his house entirely at the disposal of the ladies of the party.

The grounds around Mr. Goode's hotel are admirable and hard to equal for picnicking. That gentleman has erected a special pavilion where a hundred couples can easily dance; he has also large tents erected where lunch can be served to about 200 people. Owing to the wet day the Eagles took advantage of these tents where they served lunch at 1:30 p.m.

Mr. Goode's management afforded considerable amusement to the party.

The first part of the programme, which consisted of outside sports had to be postponed, owing to the rain. After lunch the party, led by the band marched to the dancing pavilion, where a most successful concert was held. A grand ball followed, which was also a howling success. Lunch was again served, and that terminated a most enjoyable day.

Mr. Goode presented the Coleman band with $25, as a recognition of their splendid music, and wished the boys to come again soon.

DOMINION DAY CELEBRATION The central committee with their assistants the sub-committees, met last night in the club room and went thoroughly into the different sporting events which will take place on July 1st, Canada's and Coleman's big holiday. The committee appointed to communicate with the C.P.R. and the coal company about securing the piece of ground near the railway to be used as a general recreation ground, reported favorably, both companies being willing to allow the ground to be used for sporting purposes at any time the citizens will move their fence and vacate the property. This committee agreed to do the grounds will be fenced with a seven foot fence. It is expected that a lot of volunteers will be done by the local sports and others, thereby lessening the expense of levelling, taking out stones and fencing. As the members of Coleman are noted for always working together and assisting in any good cause, the central committee may be assured of the co-operation of every man to do all he can to assist in the work. It is a ground that will be used for all sporting purposes, so that all clubs will have an interest in it.

Advance posters will soon be issued announcing the greatest celebration ever held in the Crow's Nest Pass.

The central committee report everything going along in splendid style, and are pleased with their success, which means that all are working in harmony and using their best efforts to have a long list of interesting sports and make the day a grand success and one to be remembered. Visitors who come to Coleman on July 1st may be assured that they will receive a right royal welcome, and enjoy themselves to the fullest. So mark off on the calendar Dominion day as Coleman's day, and bring your friends. Particulars as to railway accommodation, programmes, etc., will appear in due time.

TABER A question that is occupying the attention of the board of trade here is that of the freight rates on coal. The general opinion is that the miners are at a disadvantage by having to pay greater rates than the coal dealers in the east and in the United States. It is claimed that the Taber coal is as good as the coal introduced into Manitoba from other places, and that if the rates were lowered, the miners would be able to market their produce in Manitoba. Strong representations are being made to the C.P.R. to reduce the rates.

Cold Settles on Kidneys

Cure is obtained promptly by using Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Medical authorities place colds as the most frequent cause of kidney ailments.

It is customary to consider the lungs alone in danger from colds. This is a mistake.

The kidneys are quite as susceptible and the effect is to congest and stop these filtering organs until the whole system is poisoned and there comes backache, numbness, aching head, painful limbs and urinary derangements.

In a wonderfully short time Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills afford relief and cure.

By reason of their direct and combined action of kidneys, liver and bowels they cleanse the system, purify the blood and carry away the poisons generated by reason of the cold.

The great secret in the treatment of these filtering and excretory organs regular and active and this can best be done by using Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edman, Bates & Co., Toronto, Ont.

On the extraordinary success of this medicine as well as on the reality of his great "Receipt Book" rests the fame of A. W. Chase, M.D.

Pat's Office Hours

Pat, a miner, after struggling for years in a far-off western mining district, finally giving up in despair, was about to turn his face eastward, when suddenly he struck it rich. Soon afterward he was seen strutting along, dressed in the latest style, and an old friend stopped him, saying:

"And how are you, Pat? I'd like to talk to you."

"Pat stretched himself proudly. 'If you want to talk to me, I'll see you in my office. I have an office now, and me hours is from A. M. in the morning to P. M. in the afternoon.'"

"Perfectly trustworthy" is the character of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It can be used with the utmost confidence that it will do what is claimed for it. It is sure in its effects, as the use of it will clearly demonstrate, and can be relied upon to drive a cold out of the system more effectively than any other medicine. Try it, and be convinced that it is what is claimed to be.

CATARH CAN BE CURED WITH LOCAL APPLICATIONS as they cannot reach it by the system. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal medicine. Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonic known, combined with the best blood purifier, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

Not a drop of Alcohol

Doctors prescribe very little, if any, alcohol these days. They prefer strong tonics and alternatives. This is all in keeping with modern medical science. It explains why Ayer's Sarsaparilla is now made entirely free from alcohol. Ask your doctor. Follow his advice.

We publish our Sarsaparilla recipe, and we want you to know that we are not making a mistake.

Unless there is daily action of the bowels, poisonous products are absorbed, causing headache, biliousness, nausea, dyspepsia. We want you to ask your doctor about purifying your constitution by taking laxative doses of Ayer's Pills.

WHOLE TOWN MENACED.

Bedford Endangered by Act of Discharged Workmen.

The town of Bedford, England, has had a remarkable escape from a serious catastrophe.

The gas works suddenly turned off from the works about midnight one Friday night recently, when most of the residents were in bed and asleep. It is believed that some workman with a grievance turned off the supply tap momentarily.

All the gas jets which had been left burning throughout the town—in bedrooms, in the warming stoves of public house cellars, and in shop windows—were put out.

The gas company supplies the railway signal lamps in the neighborhood, however, so the engineer was obliged to turn on the supply again immediately he learnt it had been cut off.

Gas escaped from all the burners which had been put out, and it is a wonderful circumstance that no explosion has been reported from any portion of the town.

Rev. Paul Wyatt, of the Savoy Chapel Royal, the chairman of the gas company, has, however, a narrow escape from gas poisoning.

He was awaking in the night by a feeling of suffocation. He managed with difficulty to reach a window and throw it open. Several other residents had similar escapes.

Four employees at the gas works have been suspended pending inquiries.

ARMY AND CIGARETTES.

Remarkable Order by Gen. Grenfell to the Troops in Ireland.

With the object of discouraging cigarette-smoking, Gen. Grenfell, Commander-in-Chief of the Forces in Ireland, has issued an order to permit pipes only to be smoked on occasions when the men are resting after field operations and manoeuvres.

The order contains the following remarkable comment: "The Commander of the Forces has, during recent visits to military hospitals, been again struck with the harm that the increasing prevalence of cigarette-smoking is doing to the health of the army. It is not confined to the army, and Parliament is likely soon to deal with it as affecting the national health."

Lord Grenfell appeals to the Irish command to give earnest and early thought to combat what is gradually becoming a serious evil, and he requires all commanding officers to impress on those under their command the evils that must inevitably ensue from this excess.

Plague of Prickly Pears. In eastern Australia there are at least 1,000,000 acres of land given over to the prickly pear, which so far has not shown one good quality, writes T. S. Dunlop in The Empire Review. Less than fifty years ago it was introduced as a hedge plant, for which purpose it is admirable, if its operation could be confined, but it has unconquerable ambitions and has reached out over vast areas. It thrives in all climates.

There is no limit to its capacity as a grower. It will hang on to life for incalculable periods, even if the soil is left on a bare rock, and will for months maintain life until something comes along and shifts it to a more congenial soil.

Where it has the best hold it stands twenty feet high in a solid mass, interlocking itself among the branches, encroaching upon the wheel tracks on the roadway. In some parts of Queensland it would cost two and three times as much to clear it as the land would be worth when denuded of its present impudent occupier.

Christians have been at work trying solutions which could be cheaply applied, but the pear daily moves onward and outward in its uninterrupted march.

British Ambassador Dead. Sir Nicholas O'Connor, the British Ambassador at Constantinople, who died recently, had a most distinguished career.

Born in Ireland in 1843, he entered the diplomatic service in 1866. He was attached to H.M.'s Embassy at Berlin, 1867-70; subsequently to the Legation at The Hague, Madrid, Rio de Janeiro, Paris and Pekin. He returned to Pekin as Minister in 1892.

From 1896 to 1898 he was Ambassador at St. Petersburg. He was appointed to the Embassy at Constantinople in 1898.

Sir Nicholas had nearly completed ten years of service at Constantinople, during which he had strenuously striven to improve the relations between Turkey and the United Kingdom, a task in which he had secured a large measure of success. The Sultan held him in high esteem.

Sir Nicholas is the first British Ambassador to die at his post at Constantinople since Sir E. Barton, who was Queen Elizabeth's Ambassador, and died in 1898.

No Good For Ratting. His Majesty, then Prince of Wales, was once on a visit to Earl Fitzwilliam at Wentworth Woodhouse, Doncaster, and when he and a friend were taking a stroll one morning they met a miner, who in company with a couple of hounds, was also "taking it easy."

The prince's friend asked the man how much he had paid for the two animals.

"Two quid," was the laconic rejoinder of the collier, who of course was not aware of the identity of the gentleman.

His Royal Highness eyed the dogs critically, and remarked: "Don't you think two pigs would have been a more profitable investment for you, my man?"

"Happen so," replied the collier, "but ah! you see a bloomin' fool goin' a-rattin' wit' two pigs!"

BANISH PIMPLES AND ERUPTIONS

Everyone Needs a Tonic in Spring to Purify and Build Up the Blood.

If you want new health and strength in spring you must build up your blood with a tonic medicine. Indoor life during the long winter months is responsible for the depressed condition and feeling of general tiredness which affects so many people every spring. This condition means that the blood is impure and watery. That is what causes pimples and unsightly eruptions in some, and brings a feeling of general weakness, poor appetite, frequent headaches, and a desire to avoid exertion is also due to bad blood. Any or all of these troubles can be banished by the fair use of such a tonic medicine as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Every dose of this medicine builds up new, rich, red blood, which drives out impurities, stimulates every organ, strengthens every nerve, and brings a feeling of new health and new energy to weak, tired out, ailing men and women. Here is proof that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the greatest of all spring medicines. Mr. Henry Baker, Chipman, N. B., says: "Last spring I was so weak and miserable that I could hardly drag my self about. My appetite was poor, I did not sleep well, and dreaded work. My blood was in a terrible condition which caused pimples and small boils to break out all over me. These would itch and pain and caused me much trouble. I tried several medicines but without the least benefit. When one of my friends asked me why I did not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, he spoke so highly of this medicine that I decided to take his advice and give the pills a trial. I got a half dozen boxes and the result was that by the time they were finished I felt like an altogether different man. They purified my blood, built up my whole system, and I have not had a pimple on my flesh, nor sick day since. For this reason I can highly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a blood builder and purifier. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ENDS LIFE IN EXILE.

Terrorist Chief, Made Man Assassinate by Hypnotic Spell.

Gerahuni, the ex-student, pioneer and ruling spirit of the present revolutionary Terrorist movement in Russia, is reported by the newspapers to have died in exile but a free man.

He escaped from a life sentence in the Russian prison power settlement two years ago by getting some fellow-prisoners to conceal him in a coal barrel which, with a load of others, was to be taken further north. The driver was bribed and "lost" the barrel, its occupant escaping after many perils to Japan, and then to America.

Among his young comrades he was credited with strong powers of hypnotism, by which he became the real pivot of their movement. Most of the attempts against heads of the Russian Government in recent years were of his devising. It was his instruments who assassinated Prince Obolensky and M. de Plahve, and since his escape he organized some of the chief attempts of recent months.

He never took personal part in the actual deed, but by choosing men among his desperate comrades, fascinating and frightening them, he directed the most daring course.

Once, his friends admit, he was foiled completely. He had instigated an attempt on the life of the late M. Stolypin, the Russian minister of the Holy Synod, which was to be carried out at the funeral of M. Lipiaguine, Interior minister, who was to be executed he had decreed. For assassination he had chosen a young subaltern of radical leanings. After four "spells" with Gerahuni the officer promised to kill the procurator.

On the morning fixed for the deed the procurator was to be executed, and found him terrified from remorse, swearing that he could not commit murder. Gerahuni, unbridled and determined, finally giving him a bottle of strong wine and telling him to do as he was bid. The officer went out obediently with his revolver and poisoned bullets and took his position on the line of the funeral procession.

M. Pobiedonostzev approached on foot the eyes of the two men met, and the would-be assassin, who had covered under the eye of Gerahuni, felt himself even more helpless as the aged procurator's cold, grey, masterful eyes did not release their hold from him. It was as if he had met and fought in a life-and-death combat and the Terrorist was vanquished. He broke down, turned and fled. They found him in his lodgings in a hysterical state, exhausted with throwing of the spell of Gerahuni.

Prince of Wales at Home. The Prince of Wales is the well-known inseparable companion of his fond wife and of his less fond five sons and one daughter, says Current Literature. Home life, varied by the sport he loves in the shooting season, and by an occasional tour to the outlying dominions of his father's immense Empire, is the only life he leads. In a domestic aspect, he is somewhat like his cousin, the Czar, between whom and himself there exists a physical resemblance often commented upon by the press. The Prince is the hardest worker of the world, and the sapphires rank a close second. The bearings made of these precious stones have a long life, and they originally cost more, they are the cheapest in the long run.—New York Tribune.

Visibility of Lights. The result of the experiments in light visibility conducted by Germany and the Netherlands working in harmony are given as follows: A light of one candlepower is plainly visible at one mile, one of three at three miles, one of five at five miles, one of twenty-nine at five miles, though faintly, and one of thirty-three at three miles. A ten candlepower light was seen with a binocular at four miles, one of twenty-nine at five miles, though faintly, and one of thirty-three at three miles. On an exceptionally clear night a white light of 3.2 candlepower could be distinguished at three miles, one of 5.6 at four and one of 17.2 at five miles.

The experiments were made with green light, as it has been conclusively proved that if a light of that color fills the required test, red light of the same intensity will be seen.

It was found that the candlepower of green light which remained visible at one, two, three and four miles was 2, 5, 11 and 106 respectively.—Philadelphia Record.

Charged With Electricity. "Have you noticed," asked the professor, "how often you get a slight shock these days whenever you touch the radiator or the gas jet or any other body of metal? It was not so when we were young. Thirty years ago shocks required long and indignant tramping up and down the carpet and could be produced only by certain people. Now they are almost universal after the slightest movement and are felt by every one. The reason is that we use such enormous quantities of electrical force, all of which is dissipated into our surroundings, that everything in a large city gradually becomes charged with electricity. It is not so in the country. If any one could devise a means of collecting this wandering electrical energy, it would be very valuable."—New York Sun.

A Budding Tradesman. In a certain village the minister was in the habit of sitting at the school and putting the scholars through their paces. One day he was cross-questioning a boy when he happened to catch his eye and saw any prospects nowadays. This was a poser for the youth as well as for the whole class, and a dead silence reigned till a bright boy, the only son of a pushing tradesman, extended his hand eagerly toward the minister.

"Well, my lad, are there any prospects now?"

"Yes, sir; small profits and quick returns," was the triumphant response.

First Around the World. The first man to sail a ship around the globe was Vasco da Gama, a Portuguese. The glory of this most remarkable of all voyages belongs to Ferdinand Magellan, who conceived the idea and who came very near making it good. Magellan being killed in the Philippines on the return trip, De Cano, his second in command, and brought her safely into the port from which she started on her memorable voyage. Cook did not start on his voyage of circumnavigation until 1769, 24 years after Magellan's achievement.

Treasure Trove. At Bridgton, Shropshire, recently, during excavations in the High Street of the town, old silver coins to the number of 146 were found. Many of the coins were struck in 1644 or 1645. They included a Mary II. shilling, a Philip and Mary shilling, a James VI. of Scotland mark, a James I. sixpence, and seven Charles I. half-crowns. A jury found that the coins were treasure trove, and recommended that an application should be made to the Treasury to order the coins for the local museum.

The death is announced of the Japanese shipping owner and financier, Baron Yanosuke Iwaki, who was in a commercial sense, one of the makers of modern Japan. His father in the days of the Shoguns, saw the importance of steamships for transport, and the ships he bought were the beginning of the Japanese mercantile marine.

Minard's Liniment for sale everywhere.

Diamond Bearings. In the course of a year the General Electric company uses many thousands of dollars' worth of diamonds and sapphires which are being constantly shipped in from Australia, Holland, London, Paris, Brazil and New Zealand. The stones are used for bearings in electric meters such as are employed to register the number of kilowatt hours of energy used in the home. In order that the meters shall be accurate there must be practically no friction in the bearings. The mechanism of a meter turns in proportion to the amount of light burned or energy used. The wearing parts must be as hard as possible, that constant use will not wear and create additional friction, consequently diamond and sapphires have to be used in the shaft bearings. The diamond is the hardest substance in the world, and the sapphire ranks a close second. The bearings made of these precious stones have a long life, and they originally cost more, they are the cheapest in the long run.—New York Tribune.

Showing Patent Tab

The back collar stud is our shirt is inserted in the tab, shown in cut.

In this way the stud is easily inserted and it never touches the neck of the wearer.

When the collar is on, the tab cannot move.

But there is sufficient room left in the button-hole for the collar to move slightly from one side to the other, so that the collar may be easily adjusted in the front.

Only on Tooke Shirts can this tab be found.

Northern Australia is the only tropical land where the white working man has unanimously taken up the pick and shovel and put the question of his suitability to the proof. In most of the other tropical lands of British empire, there is only a shifting white population, which comes out from England, and pants for a few years in a white suit, and then goes "home" again.

Porter Emerson Browne came into his office yesterday. He had been out in the country for a week and was very cheerful. Just as he was leaving he said: "Did you hear about that man who died the other day and left all he had to the orphanage?"

"No," someone answered. "How much did he leave?"

"Twelve children."

Mr. Browne left, too.—Everybody's Magazine.

THE CROPS

What parliament is doing in Ottawa these days is of less real importance than what the farmer is doing in the fields. The proper preparation of the voters' lists is a matter of public concern—a subject with food for much thought, no doubt, but should take second place in our consideration to the sowing of the seed, which is infinitely more interesting and more important to the average man at this particular date. After a poor year for 1908, on account of a late spring and a consequent late harvest, resulting in the partial destruction by frost, we cannot but rejoice that the west, at least, will have little complaint of the seed-time of 1908 and if the harvest implies the promise of spring, Canada will experience the beneficent influence of another bumper crop live or six months hence.

Perfect weather conditions for spring work characterized this part of Alberta for six weeks past; practically all the grain has been sown and is reported to be in splendid condition six weeks ahead of last year, and if oats and barley have not been sown in large quantities it is because it was considered unadvisable to sow these crops so early. A much larger area is under crop this year than in 1907. Frequent showers during the past few weeks have been welcomed by the farmers, and if followed up with reasonable weather during June, it will ensure a rapid growth for which the prairie provinces are famed.

ARGUMENT BY ILLUSTRATION

Regarding the agitation for the abrogation of capital punishment, the Montreal Star puts a suppositious case as follows:

"Let us imagine a case in which this would work out the other way. Let us suppose that a skilled burglar with a bad record were in your house. You had him penned in so that he could not escape—unless he killed you. Now he would get a long term in prison if arrested simply for burglary, because of his bad record. If he killed you, he would get no more, if capital punishment had been abolished. But if he killed you he would likely escape; while if he did not kill you he would be caught. What do you think he would do? He had much to gain and nothing to lose by killing you; and much to lose and nothing to gain by letting you live and catch him. But if punishment still awaited the murderer, the whole situation would be changed. If you caught him, he would only go to prison; but if he killed you and were subsequently caught, he would be hanged.

"As you approached the room in which he was concealed, which law would you rather have in force—capital punishment or a humane term in prison? Which possible sentence do you think most likely to 'deter' him?"

NOW FOR WATER

Drilling outfit arrived in Pincher City on Monday and boring operations will commence as soon as the men arrive from High River. Mr. Fowler who is in charge of the outfit has had a vast amount of experience in this line and has yet to fail to procure water. It is the intention of the townsite company to have the first well bored in the side of the hill north of this place, where experts claim there is an ample supply of water to accommodate the City for a long time.

If water is procured at this point it will be an easy matter to have the reservoir situated at a sufficient elevation above the place so that gravitation will give a splendid pressure sufficient to throw water about 80 feet, which will afford ample protection for the elevators and Alexander hotel which is four storeys high, as well as the other buildings.

MINERS' STRIKE AT MICHEL

After a temporary settlement of the difficulties between the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. and its employees in the Michel collieries the men have again refused to go to work upon the strength of letters addressed to President James Douglas of the Michel union and associates while at Fernie Thursday of last week by general manager Hurd of the coal company, stating in part: "When the mines resume work I am ready to take the question up as before stated, at any hour or place which may be agreeable to you and your district officials." No mention is made that only part of the gang would be employed. The local union men decided to go to work believing that the trouble would be settled. When the men reported for work Saturday morning twelve men, including Messrs. Douglas, Whitehouse, Carter and Davis, the men who were tried last week for breach of the Lemieux act, all leading men of the union, were refused work and asked to report at the superintendent's office where they were handed their time. No definite explanations were made to the men, but it is generally believed that these men were refused work as a punishment to the union. At a meeting of the union it was decided that inasmuch as the company had broken their own agreements, that they would settle if the men would resume work, no mention being made that these men would be laid off, that the miners would not return to work until the twelve men had been re-instated. The entire union, who are eight hundred strong, presented themselves at the close of the meeting before Superintendent Derbyshire informing him that they would not work until he had reinstated the men. The men are determined and have decided to fight to the last. Everything is quiet and no rowdiness is apparent as has been stated in despatches from the outside.

AT HOME

The Ladies Aid of Pincher City gave an "at home" in the school room of the Methodist church on Wednesday, May 28th at 3 o'clock. Invitations were sent to all the ladies of the community, as well as being announced from the pulpit, and it was gratifying to the members of the Aid to have such a large attendance. Amongst the visitors were Mrs. James Cook, Mrs. Earl Cook, Mrs. Nye, Mrs. Seely, Mrs. Shoults, Mrs. Alex. Lynch, Mrs. Angus Robertson, Miss Read and Miss Hagen and the full membership of the Aid. Mrs. Seely and Mrs. Lynch sang a duet which was much appreciated and both sang solos in a pleasing manner. The Aid took advantage of the opportunity to present to their president, Mrs. James Watson, who is leaving for B.C. shortly, with a slight token of remembrance and appreciation of the zealous manner in which she labored in behalf of the Aid. Mrs. Read made the address, while Mrs. Harrod presented the parcel, and Mrs. Watson, who was taken by surprise, replied in a very fitting manner. A dainty lunch was served and the meeting closed with singing "God be with you till we meet again."

BLAIRMORE

Rev. J. Sargent will preach on Sunday next in Knox church, Frank, at 3 p.m., and in the mission church, Blairmore, in the evening at 7:30.

The public school resumed again on Tuesday after a few days close down, the basement having been flooded by the heavy rains. All is now, however, in good shape once more.

Blairmore is now a great poultry raising district, and already over 1,000 spring chicks can be numbered in town. Why not have a competition and prize for those who can raise the largest number for one season.

What are the wild waves saying? High water and difficult work will account for the loss of so many peevish by the McLaurin river log drivers. One of their men has been seen in town purchasing new ones.

T. Marshall and wife have arrived in town to live. Mr. Marshall is a master mechanic and machine inspector, and has until this week been employed at the Hill Crest mine by C. P. Hill, and now seeks employment nearby in order to settle in the vicinity.

Trouble has come to the home of J. Gresham and wife, the smith at McLaurin's mill. He has just recovered from blood poison, resuming his work last week after three weeks off. His wife and two children arrived on Friday, May 13th, after a very pleasant voyage from the old country per the Dominion liner S.S. Kensington. Their little girl took sick last Friday, 22nd, and on Sunday morning Dr. Macleod, quarantined the home, scarlet fever being the verdict.

is a good one, and it is to be hoped that others will follow the example. Nothing will improve the appearance of a town in Alberta so much as trees.

On account of the rain some of the sports at Cowley had to be postponed.
The date of the races has not yet been learned. The foot ball enthusiasts, however, were not daunted by weather conditions and three games were played in the rain. The first game was between Pincher City and Cowley, score 1, 3, favor of Cowley. Second game Bellevue and Lundbreck, score
2, 1, favor of Bellevue. Third game Bellevue and Cowley, score stood 2, 2, at time. There was not sufficient time to play off the tie, which game will be played in the near future.

In defence of the home team we may state that a report was circulated here before the game that the referee was of the rain the races and sports would be postponed, and in consequence several of our best players remained at home.
The result of the match might have been different were the entire team on the field, and the boys are anxious to have a fair test made at some date in the near future.

COWLEY FOOTBALL COMPETITION
Senior Cup—Draw for first round:
Cowley vs. Pincher City, Bellevue vs.
Lundbreck, Reault vs. Cowley 2, Pincher
City 0, Bellevue 2, Lundbreck 1.
Final: Bellevue 2, Cowley 2. Cowley refused to play an extension of time, so Bellevue claimed the cup.

Junior Cup—Draw for first round:
Frank vs. Cowley, Lundbreck vs. Byre.
Result: Frank 4, Cowley 0. Final:
Frank 7, Cowley 1.

NOTES ON THE GAME—
The class of foot ball in the whole competition was good, considering the state of the field, the Frank juniors showing up well in their games. The Bellevue team were the pick of the local through the senior competition, completely outclassing the teams from the prairie. A penalty kick was given against Lundbreck in favor of Bellevue and was taken by Valley who made no mistake, putting the ball straight past the goalkeeper. Another penalty was given against Bellevue in favor of Cowley in the final, but the Cowley man put in a weak shot and Lundrey saved the shot but failed to clear properly, and the ball was put through in the scrimmage. Miller was the "star" goal getter of the day, scoring three goals for Bellevue. The first half of the final was the toughest game ever seen at Cowley, but the second half compensated by smooth play and neat passing. The Rev. H. Haddon of Frank, proved invaluable as referee.
Bellevue scored 5 goals in the final, but had 3 goals disallowed. The prairie boys were certainly "sore" when they saw both cups coming up into the Pass.

HOW TO COOK RICE

It was said of an eminent Philadelphia lawyer that he was neither learned nor eloquent, yet almost invariably successful in his efforts to bring a jury around to his view of a case.

"He does it by insistence—not by argument," was the report of a man who had sat on a jury under his pleading.

"He repeats the same thing over and over, varying the form slightly, perhaps, but coming back always to the one main idea, until the average jurymen can see but one side of the question."

It's the way the world over. Say something often and hard enough to convince yourself that it is true, and, nine times out of ten, you will end by making your hearers believe it.

"Musing thus an hour alone," with the subject of this familiar talk before me, I wondered how much longer and harder I must tell American housewives what an excellent thing rice is before they are convinced of its superiority to that rank and overpriced potato, without which no family dinner is considered complete.

raised one foot high."

The writer just quoted continues: "As rice is deficient in natural fats, oil, butter, fat bacon or similar articles of food should be eaten with it."

Whereupon, the article concludes: "The trimmings that make rice toothsome also raise it toward the level of the perfect food."

"Furthermore, it may be consumed along with substances rich in nitrogenous or flesh-forming, matters—such as meat, eggs and many kinds of pulse, as peas or beans.

"All of which diets point to our gentle cereal as a vegetable accompaniment of meat and gravies rather than to the final course which the English name 'sweet,' and the Americans call 'dessert,'"

"Rice, when properly cooked, is digested without difficulty by the stomach, and holds healing in its soft starches and mild albuminoids, poulticing pain and coating sore surfaces."

"The adjective 'gentle' is used with a purpose in this connection."

This, and more tending to the same conclusion, was written ten years ago.

BETTER THAN POTATOES

What I said then, I put upon record now. Rice appears more frequently upon my own table than potatoes are allowed to do. It is more nourishing and far more easily digested than the potato, more delicate in flavor and susceptible of more and agreeable variations in cooking.

Potato-water is well known to be poisonous. I mean the water in which the raw potato has been boiled. Even in Ireland, where it forms the chief diet of the peasant, the superstition prevails that it should be thrown away as soon as it is drawn off from the potatoes.

If left in the house over night the potatoes will bathe their feet in it and bring bad dreams to the family. The implication that it is noxious to humankind is plain.

Rice-water is a valuable addition to the stockpot, and when boiled down makes nourishing jelly for children and invalids.

Such one last extract from the treatise referred to: "As a rule, it suffers more wrong in the hands of the average American cook than any other vegetable.

"The pasty mess, stiff enough to stand alone, or so watery as to look like coarse and ill-made starch, which figures as boiled rice upon nineteen out of twenty otherwise well-furnished tables, deserves the reputation it has gained."

It is not a week since a good housewife wrote to me that "the only proper way to cook rice is to boil it all the forenoon. There is no other way of getting all the good out of it."

I think I have already told the story on this page of the praise bestowed by a native missionary upon his Chinese servants who, in the great famine year, begged that their masters would eat the rice which was their sole food, and give the servants!

The shrewd native comprehended that much of the "good" of the staple had gone into the water, especially after long boiling.

How to Boil Rice

Wash a cupful of rice in three waters. Drain, and drop it through a sieve into a saucepan containing two generous quarts of water at a hard boil. Add two teaspoonfuls of salt and keep the contents of the saucepan at a galloping boil for twenty minutes. The saucepan should remain uncovered, and the rice must not be stirred once during the time of cooking. Take out a few grains with a fork at the end of the twenty minutes and bite into it. If they are not tender, cook for three minutes more.

Drain off every drop of the water; turn the rice into a hot colander and set in the open oven for a few minutes to dry off as you would treat boiled potatoes.

Each grain ought to stand separate from the rest and keep its own form, yet be tender. When ready, open vegetable dish, and eat with meat.

Pressed Rice

Roll as directed above, and mix, while hot, with a tablespoonful of drawn butter for each cupful of the cooked rice.

Season with pepper, salt and a few drops of onion juice. Turn into a shallow dish and set a plate upon it, covering it entirely.

Press the plate down firmly and lay a weight on the plate. When the rice is cold and stiff cut into squares or into strips, and fry to a light brown.

Fried Rice

Boil and press as in the preceding recipe, letting the rice set perfectly cold. It is best to do this the day before it is to be eaten. Cut into rounds or triangles, roll each piece in egg and cracker crumbs and fry quickly in deep fat.

Drain well and serve hot. This is a pleasant addition to poultry or meat, and likewise a good plain dessert when eaten with hard sauce.

Rice and Meat Pudding

Boil a cupful of rice in two quarts of salted water until it is tender—not longer. Drain, and dry out in the open oven.

Now mix into it a cupful of hot milk in which has been stirred a teaspoonful of cornstarch.

Beat a raw egg light, add to the rice with a tablespoonful of butter, and let all get cold. Make ready a cupful of minced meat—poultry or lamb or veal.

Blanch two tablespoonfuls of almonds, and chop fine. Mix with the meat, season highly and with strong gravy, just enough to moisten it thoroughly.

When the rice is cold, toss and stir all the ingredients together, mingling without mashing rice and meat.

Butter a cake mould well; coat the buttered sides with hard sauce, and put in the pudding. Fit the top on the mould and set in a deep pan of boiling water.

Place the pan in the oven and cook for an hour and a half, replenishing the water in the pan as it boils down. Dip the mould into cold water to make the pudding shrink from the sides and out of the dish.

Serve with strained tomato sauce into which you have stirred two large spoonfuls of Parmesan cheese.

This excellent pudding will serve as the chief dish of a family dinner. It is cheap, easily made and savory.

Rice Souffle—as a Vegetable

Boil a cupful of rice until tender. Stir with a fork a tablespoonful of butter, the yolks of four eggs, beaten light, with pepper and salt to taste. Add three cups and a half of milk. Beat upward with a broad ladle for a minute and stir in swiftly the whipped whites of the eggs. Turn into a buttered dish and bake covered, for half an hour. Then brown quickly with hard sauce. It is very nice eaten with poultry or any kind.

I could easily multiply the recipes herewith given by ten and not exhaust the capabilities of the cereal that should not need my championship against the arrogant claims of the tyrant potato.

THE HOUSEMOTHERS' EXCHANGE

I AM much interested in the letter from the "Old-fashioned Grandmother" about the "pimento" in the subject. I have no patience with mothers who give the innocent being dependent upon them so dangerous a thing. If a child cries, try to find out what ails it, and soothe it without running the risk of affecting its health unfavorably. In fact, it is a good idea for her child, her mother, and her mother's friends to be on the alert for the signs of a child's distress, and indeed, his whole life may turn out to be a tragedy.

I wish the women doctors among our readers and well-wishers would take up the matter under discussion.

If, as our young mother says, the "pimento" is of the same order of evils as thumb-sucking, and her contention seems reasonable, there can be no question as to the mischief that may be doing all over the country by the blind nipple one sees protruding from baby lips in many a nursery.

I saw three well-dressed babies yesterday in one street car, each of whom had its lips protruding closely about the thumb.

Two of them were pulling strenuously upon it. Will our M.D.'s pronounce upon it?

Keeping Red Peppers

Kindly tell me how to prepare the common red pepper for winter use. I have a large quantity of the fruit and I want to keep it for winter use.

At the youthful best, our pepper lacks the saltiness of the pimento with which

"pimentos" are filled and which is sold to us in cans.

I should much like to have the recipe for which you ask, having, of late years, returned to the oldtime canning methods we once thought were superseded forever by the canned goods put up by contract.

Why housemother any more definite knowledge on the subject than myself?

Vegetarian Diet Discussed

I happened today upon an old newspaper which contained your Exchange. It is a discussion upon vegetarianism. The advocate of a purely vegetable diet writes from Buffalo, N. Y., and asks readers to send "freely in reply."

May I do this in the same Good Book as yours?

In Genesis, ix, 3, I read: "Every moving thing that the earth shall be meat for you, even as the green herb have I given you all things."

In Deuteronomy xiv, 4, we have: "These are the beasts which ye shall eat—the ox, the sheep and the goat." The text verse goes on with the list: "The hart and the roebuck and the fallow deer, the pig, the wild ass and the chamois."

Acts x, 15, has this sentence: "Wherein were all manner of four-footed beasts of the earth, and wild beasts, and creeping things, and birds of the air. And there came a voice unto Peter, saying, 'Rise, kill and eat!'"

And in Romans the great apostle to the Gentiles writes: "For one believeth that he may eat all things. Another, who is weak, eateth herbs."

Read the whole of the chapter—Romans xiv.

Here is the question: What God has told us to eat must be lawful and right for us to eat. V. C. (South Haven, Me.).

Having published the first part of the discussion, it is but fair that the opposite side shall be heard. The two meet upon common ground, each claiming authority from our sources.

I leave the decision to our readers at large.

Ice Cream Cone Queries

I am desirous of obtaining the recipe for making the cone part of the ice cream "cone." Please tell me where it may be procured. W. B. (Fairview, Ill.).

Two other correspondents ask the same question.

Will some confectioner—amateur or professional—reply?
